

IS NOTHING GONNA CHANGE

(Neil Murray)

Old man standing down at the dock
He's been through two wars
He says good-bye to his only son
Who's dressed in uniform
Each generation that comes into this world
Hopes not to make the same mistakes as the very first
But here we are again
Sending young men off to war
How can this go on
Do we forget what happened before?

Is nothing gonna change
Is nothing gonna change in this world?
If you just do what you always do
Nothing changes in this world

Disinformation is a noxious weed
It runs rampant all over the land
Who knows what to believe?
The government it won't let on
There's been a cover up
It's too late when you find out
Your hands are dipped in blood
Is nothing gonna change
Is nothing gonna change in this world?
If you just do what you always do
Nothing changes in this world
If you accept what they say
Nothing's gonna change in this world
If you don't think for yourself
Nothing changes in this world, in this world

In this world there's Utopian ideas
Some end in despair
But when some have the courage to dream
We all move a little closer to there, now
Was Ghandi a Peter Pan?
Do Dr King's words fall on deaf ears?
How long must we learn the lessons?
How many more years?

Is nothing gonna change
Is nothing gonna change in this world?
If you just do what you always do
Nothing changes in this world
If you accept what they say
Nothing's gonna change in this world
If you don't think for yourself
Nothing changes in this world, in this world
In this world, in this world
In this world, in this world
